

PRISMA ELECTRONICS SA is an innovative, high technology company that was established in 1991 in, Greece. Throughout a consistent and continuous effort, the company engaged in a wide range of activities in the field of Electronics, Space, Defense, Information Technology, Telecommunications and Energy. With present in Alexandroupolis (HQ and Factory), Athens (R&D and Sales Department) and London (International Sales).

The company is looking for an Electrical/ Electronic Engineer to staff the Defense and Space Sector in Alexandroupolis.

Electrical/ Electronic Engineer- Defense and Space Sector (Job code: EE-2400)

Job description:

- Responsible for analysis and production procedures in assembly electronics and cables
- Ensure projects are in alignment with Company Procedures and Directors' guidance and quality rules
- Identifying and resolving performance bottlenecks
- Ensure high quality customer-level briefing materials, production documentation and status reporting
- Responsible for problem identification, mitigation and provide proper guidance for identified issues
- Production equipment preparation and support

Requirements:

- Bachelor's Degree or Diploma in Electrical/ Electronic Engineering or relevant field
- Fluent in English (speech/ writing)
- Excellent knowledge of computers
- Communication skills and willingness for learning, team working and improvement
- Understanding design and production principles in Electronics, Cables and their testing

Additional Requirements:

- Experience in electronics and cables assembly

What we offer:

- Competitive compensation package
- High standards working environment
- Possibility of cooperation with International Companies & Executives
- Continuous education
- Career development opportunities

Please send your CV to address mail: ibd@prismael.com by referring the relevant Ref Code (ex. EE-2400).